Vol. I, No. 1

LYCOMING COLLEGE'S FIRST COMMENCEMENT

The Centennial commencement of the old college, and the first under its new name, Lycoming College, was auspicious. Many of the alumni were back to see what it was all about. New buildings, and the rapid work on the women's dormitory, betokened a new atmosphere. Most of all, the gaiety and animation manifest, and the dignity and stimulus of all the exercises of the Commencement week-end gave ample assurance that Lycoming College was indeed on its way to a commanding position in the collegiate world.

Students' Music Graduation

The music department began the order of events by giving a graduation recital in the Clarke Building on Friday, June 4, of two of its outstanding students—Phyllis Dahlgren, soprano, of Williamsport, and Loris Gohl, pianist, of Jersey Shore. Miss Dahlgren has appeared many times in public, particularly as soloist with the local Civic Choir, and Miss Gohl has been in demand on various community programs. Afteward, a banquet was given at the Village Inn for the members of the capella choir, with Dr. Long and wife and members of the faculty as guests.

Prior to this event, the faculty had an enjoyable picnic at Sportsmen's Park. The sophomore class also held a picnic at Rauchtown, while other groups had informal get-togethers before parting for the summer.

At 2 p.m. Saturday, June 5, in the Clarke Memorial, the sophomore class held Class Day exercises, with Al Mortimer as master of ceremonies. Paul Dawson gave a piano recital and Phyllis Dahlgren and Mary Klingensmith sang. Robert Allen and Dorothy Cicco read the class prophecy; Eloise Snyder described class doings the past two years, and Mrs. Virginia Smith, class adviser from the faculty, gave an address. Following this program, which was carried out in a spirit of fun, Dean Skeath made the awards for scholastic attainment.

Following this program the Alumni Association met and elected the following officers: E. Lester Lewis, president; Mrs. J. E. D. Huffman, vice president; Eva Keller, recording secretary; Martha Slate, corresponding secretary; Dorothy Hoagland, treasurer. Congressman Rich, President of the Board of Trustees, gave a short talk. During the day the classes of 1898, 1913, 1917, and 1918 held reunions.

The Alumni Banquet

At 6:30 p.m. the commencement banquet given to the alumni, students of the graduating class, and faculty was held in the dining room. Don Larrabee, instructor of business law, presided, and called on various members of the alumni for responses. Dr. Long gave a talk relating the history and future plans of the college, and a group of students presented a skit contrasting the past with the future of the college.

Following the banquet, at 8:15 in the chapel, the capella choir, under the direction of Walter G. McIver, gave a splendid rendition of a varied program including religious compositions, negro spirituals, compositions from the Russian and German composers, and modern American. The excellent work of the students was well received by a capacity audience.

The program was followed by a dance in the gymnasium which was attended by a large representation from the alumni and student body.

Baccalaureate Services

At 4 p.m. Sunday afternoon the colorful procession of college executives and speaker, faculty members and students wended its way across the campus from the Fine Arts Building to the Clarke Chapel where the baccalaureate services were held. Included in the program were the reading of the scriptures by Rev. Clair J. Switzer, responsive reading by Dean Skeath, prayer by Rev. G. Cecil Weimer, benediction by Rev. John A. Frehn, and the baccalaureate sermon by Dr. Hugh C. Stuntz, President of Scarritt College, Nashville, Tenn.

Dr. Stuntz chose as his text the lines from the Bible enjoining us to "love thy neighbor as thyself," using the last two words. His

Faculty Changes

We regret that the following instructors will not be with us next year: Cretyl Crumb, of the biology department, will return to research work; Margaret E. Fowler, physical instructor for girls, will be married in July to Raymond A. Lander, Jr., of Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. Elizabeth H. Mabon, instructor in the preparatory department, will leave, as that department will no longer be conducted; Dr. Clarence R. Athearn, instructor in philosophy and education, will not return, as those courses will no longer longer be offered; Garvin R. Peffer, instructor in chemistry, and Peter O. Ramirez, instructor in Spanish, will accept appointments in other institutions.

Piano Auditions

The Williamsport chapter of the National Guild of Piano Teachers held auditions for piano students of the college and city during the week of May 17 in the Fine Arts building. Miss Inez Buell, of New York City, was the judge. Miss Buell is a talented soprano as well as pianist. She is a graduate of the Julliard School of Music, and has studied with Olga Samaroff. She recently made a concert tour of the British Isles, and will give a recital in Carnegie Hall next spring.

This work of the National Guild is a notable achievement in piano instruction. There are about 300 centers in the United States, and over 100 judges. This year about 25,000 young pianists participated for the scholastic ratings given them. Judgment is made on 37 phases of pianistic interpretation and ratings given for those who expect merely to become acceptable pianists in their community as well as those who have professional aspirations. In all, this unique program is a stimulus both to the teacher and to the student, as the basis of judgment conforms with the requirements of the National School of Music.

The chairman of the local group is Hazel B. Dorey, and other mem-thesis was that we could not love our neighbors unless we loved our own body, mind, and spirit on a sufficiently high plane so that it could be a criterion.

The a capella choir sang and Dr. Long presided. The occasion was most impressive throughout.

Commencement Exercises

The climax of the Centennial Commencement of Lycoming College was reached with the presentation of diplomas to the 150 graduates, the last under the Junior College regime, and the final for the Preparatory class, at the exercises held in the Clarke Chapel 9:30 Tuesday morning, June 7.

After an opening prayer by the Rev. E. Lester Lewis, and an anthem by the a capella choir, Dr. Roy L. Smith, Editor of the Christian Advocate, delivered an inspiring address. He drew a picture of post-war conditions, to reveal the facts that the great European nations either no longer exist as nations, or are on the decline, and that the hope of the world lies with the republic of the United States. His message to the classes was that they would now be compelled to consider themselves world citizens, not just American citizens. He pointed out that the world still, as always, is a world founded on moral law, to which we must subscribe. He added that the members of this and all other graduating classes had natural rights given them by our Constitution and Declaration of Independence—rights which the young people elsewhere throughout the world would give anything to possess. This masterly address was the high light of all addresses delivered before the student body during the year.

The excellent a capella choir sang another anthem, Dr. Long presented the diplomas to the classes, Rev. Ralph D. Hinkleman pronounced the benediction, and the 100th Commencement came to a close.

LYCOMING COLLEGE

Lycoming College is now a fait accompli. All the powers that be have satisfied themselves that here in Williamsport is an institution with a long and honorable history and growth from creditable beginnings to a promising future; with all the material equipment necessary in the way of plant, library, laboratories, and financial reserves; with a faculty sufficient and scholarly to meet exacting collegiate instruction; with a large and earnest student body, and a loyal community, proud of its new label—a college town. Most of all, they know that the college has an eminent and devoted alumni. So, with all these—and their blessing, too—the state, the church, and the collegiate organizations say to Lycoming College, "You are now an accredited four-year institution of higher education, with all its prerogatives of granting the accepted degrees, and association with the ancient and honorable halls of learning in whom are vested the hope of a better world through the enlightened minds and hearts of young people."

What does this mean to you, alumni of old Dickinson? It is now no less your college under a new name and an expanded program. Your stake in its future is no less; nay, it is even more. Lycoming College still looks to you for loyalty, material and spiritual support. Its future is bound up with the future of your sons and daughters; the sons and daughters of your friends and relatives to whom the doors of Lycoming College are open. Its success is largely in your hands. Will you meet this trust and challenge?

Chapel Speakers

The chapel services of the year have brought to the pulpit a number of interesting and notable speakers. Many of the ministers of local churches gave of their time and thought to bring to the students messages of importance. In addition there have been representatives of the Methodist church at large, missionaries from foreign lands, and eminent speakers visiting the city under the auspices of various organizations who favored the college while here.

The College Treasurer

A new member of the staff has been appointed in the person of Kenneth E. Himes as college treasurer, who took up his duties on May 24. He is a graduate of the Drexel Institute of Technology, and pursued graduate work at Rutgers University. He has been employed by the John C. Winston Publishing Company of Philadelphia, the Philip Morris Company of New York, and has been auditor of the Delaware Valley Utilities Company in Philadelphia. His most recent position has been that of cashier of the First National Bank of Montoursville, Pa. He will have associated with him the present staff: Robert G. Wharton, Jr., business manager; Clara E. Fritsche, bookkeeper, and Joan Evenden, assistant bookkeeper.

College Board of Directors Election

The following members of the Board of Directors of Lycoming College were elected during commencement week-end. To serve one-year terms, newly elected directors are the Rev. L. Elbert Wilson and the Rev. G. Cecil Weimer, of Williamsport, and the Rev. W. W. Banks, of Clearfield, and Frank Dunham, Wellsboro.

Harold A. Brown, Williamsport, was elected to serve until 1951, with the following reelected: Mrs. Layton S. Lyon, John H. McCormick, Arnold A. Phipps, George L. Stearns, 2nd, Judge Charles S. Williams, the Rev. A. Lawrence Miller, all of Williamsport; Ivan E. Garver, of Roaring Springs; Dr. Elvin Clay Myers, of Bloomsburg; Robert F. Rich, of Woolrich; the Rev. J. E. Skillington, of York.

Officers, all reelected, are Mr. Rich, president; Mr. Phipps, vice president, and Rev. Mr. Miller, secretary. Kenneth E. Himes, of Montoursville, was elected treasurer at a previous meeting.

News of the Alumni

Please Note

It is our desire to make this department as full as possible of information about the alumni—births in the families, deaths, marriages, professional activities, social doings—anything that will be of interest to all the readers. So, will you kindly keep this in mind and write us the items as they come to you? If we make mistakes in names, dates, or facts, please let us know so we can correct them. Also will you be sure to state what class of which the person is a member.

We regret to learn of the death of Marvin E. Cheston, a well-known alumnus of Dickinson, who passed away on April 17 at the Masonic home at Elizabethtown, Pa., at the advanced age of 84. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge of Lock Haven, the Williamsport Consistory, and the Knights Templar. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Alice H. Hicks, of Williamsport, and Mrs. Mary I. Dunbaugh, of Orange, N. J. He also leaves a brother, Frank C. Cheston, of South Orange, N. J.

Dr. Cautious A. Choate, Wichita, Kan., executive secretary of the Board of Education, Central Kansas Conference of the Methodist Church, and former instructor in Bible at Dickinson Seminary, 1930-1935, is the author of a "Devotional Message" appearing regularly in Upper Room, a publication of the Methodist General Bible Board of Evangelism, published in Nashville, Tenn. Its circulation reaches over a million people.

We deeply regret to learn of the sudden death of Dr. Edgar R. Heckman, class of '94. Rev. Heckman was instantly killed in an automobile collision near Millers-town on May 24 as he was returning with his wife from attending the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Church at Clearfield. His wife died as she was being taken to the Lewis-town hospital. Rev. Heckman has held numerous important ministerial charges but recently retired from the position of superintendent of the Methodist Home for the aged at Tyrone, Pa.

The Rev. George B. McClelland

Remley, father of Donald G. Remley, instructor in mathematics and physics at the college, died May 28 at his home in Sunbury. He was an alumnus of Dickinson Seminary, class of 1892, and of Dickinson College in 1893. He was an honored minister in the Central Pennsylvania Methodist Conference.

We announce the marriage, on April 3rd, of William L. Springman, '47, of 830 Third Ave., Williamsport, to Miss Betty Glanding of Philadelphia. Mr. Springman is attending the Philadelphia School of Pharmacy. The couple will reside at 5447 Locust St., Philadelphia.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL

Lycoming College is conducting its usual summer session, and is offering a wide spread of courses for students who wish to make up work, or for those who wish to anticipate some courses. The first half began June 14 and will last until July 20. The enrolment is over 100 students. The second half will begin July 21 and will run until August 24. Following are the courses offered: Biology, Spanish, English, Chemistry, Business, Science, Sociology, History, German, Economics, Political Science, Music, Fine Arts.

Enrolments are also coming in. Mr. Stanford informs us, for next year, and from the prospects the personnel of the student body will be as large and as creditable as that of the past year.

Music Department Graduates

This department was represented in May recitals by four talented seniors who signaled their graduation by this public appearance. They are as follows: Phyllis Dahlgren, Williamsport, soprano; Loris Gohl, pianist, of Jersey Shore; Mary Jane Schreiner Paradise, mezzo-soprano; Ellet Young, of Jersey Shore, piano. The programs were under the direction of Walter G. McIver, director of the music department.

During the year all undergraduate students of voice, piano, and violin have appeared publicly a part of their training in order to give them poise and confidence before the public.

ber teachers are Myrtle Stroup, Mrs. James Mensch, Frederick A. Snell, Gordon Brearey, Mrs. Kurt Glaser, Mrs. Harry Heiser, and Mrs. Mary Russell. Over 200 students from Williamsport and vicinity participated.

In this connection, it is noteworthy that Mrs. Hazel Dorey, chairman of the local chapter, was chosen by the central management of the National Guild to serve for a week during April as judge of the piano students in Altoona and Chambersburg Pa. Her work was considered so successful that she has been placed on the permanent staff for judging service each year.

By the will of the late George B. Wolf, former mayor of Williamsport, business executive, and philanthropist, the sum of $2500 was bequeathed to the college as well as a one-seventh interest in the residuary estate.

Art Exhibit

During the last part of May the art section of the college placed on exhibition the work of the students during the year. Over 100 pieces of work, including painting, sculpture and drawings, were shown, the mediums used being water colors, pastels, charcoal, and pen and ink. Mrs. Helen M. Golder is the director of the department.

Oratorical Contest

John Crebs, of Williamsburg, a freshman pre-medical student, won first place on May 17 in the annual oratorical contest for the M. B. Rich prizes. Second place was taken by Harold Jennings, a freshman studying theology and assistant to the pastor of the local Pine Street Methodist Church. His home is in Clarion. The first prize was $25 and the second prize $10.

Crebs spoke on student government, and Jennings on the 1947 Oslo Youth Conference. A faculty committee were judges, and Dean Skeath made the announcements.

The two prizes of $50 each, offered by Brua C. Keefer, for excellence in art, were won by Grant Lockman and Frank Norris.

SPRING PROM

The Spring Prom on the evening of May 14 was a gala affair.

Many of the alumni were back to attend, and the tastefully decorated gym, the good music, and the whole affair well organized by William L. King, 2nd, of Harrisburg, all contributed to the pleasure of the large number of dancing couples. A faculty committee, composed of Dean J. Milton Skeath, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Stanford, Mr. and Mrs. G. Lee Baer, Miss Florence Dewey, and William King, Barbara Bowman, Aurdey McWilliams, and Ray Hayes, students, formed the receiving line.

MAY DAY

Despite the rain, which drove the affair into the gym, this year's May Day was an imposing event. The program held on May 15, centered around the crowning of Dorothy Fairchild, a sophomore from Montandon, Pa., as May Queen. The whole program was under the direction of Margaret E. Fowler, instructor of women's physical education, and she enlisted over 100 of the co-eds in a colorful ceremony entitled "Pageant of the Nations." The maid of honor was Loris Gohl of Jersey Shore. Alice Brown, of Williamsport, bestowed the crown, and the crown bearer was Anna Ruth Sandin, daughter of Dr. Eric Sandin of the faculty. The queen's court was composed of Patricia Taylor of South Williamsport; Jacqueline Brouse of Williamsport; Addie Knowlden of Ralston; Esthel Rinehuls of Emporium; Bonnie Goodall of Liberty; Mary Lee Klingensmith of Pittsburgh; Norma Woodford of Union Springs, N. Y., and Elaine Abercrombie of Baltimore. The honor court was composed of girls with high scholastic rating: Pauline Pribble of Woolrich; Lucy Tremayne of Williamsport; Anna Livingston of Williamsport, and Marjorie Sundin of Jersey Shore.

Viola Miller, of Williamsport, who recently was chosen as Miss Greater Williamsport, gave a dance solo wearing a South American costume. Various groups of girls then gave folk dances in costume of many nations. At the conclusion of the program a tea was held in Bradley Hall with Miss Florence Dewey, Dean of Women, in charge, assisted by Mrs. T. S. Stanford, Mrs. Virginia L. Smith, and Miss Cretyl Crumb. Mrs. John W. Long and Mrs. J. Milton Skeath poured.

Summer Doings of the Faculty

Mrs. Eloise Mallinson, instructor in English, will continue work on her Master's degree at Bucknell University. After that she plans to spend some time on Cape Cod.

Harold I. Hinkleman, instructor in accounting, will pursue graduate work at New York University. Mr. Hinkleman has just been elected Director of Education for the Williamsport Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

Mrs. Mabel K. Bauer, instructor in Chemistry, will be teaching that subject on the campus this summer.

Ethelwynne S. Hess, instructor in mathematics, will pursue work for her Master's degree at Bucknell University.

F. Alvin McCann, instructor in biology, will be on the campus teaching, after which he plans to take a hike in the "Smokies."

Mary Jane Marley, instructor in secretarial studies, will also continue work at Bucknell University for her Master's degree.

Mrs. Gertrude Jeffrey, instructor in Religious Education, and in mathematics and English in the Preparatory School, will spend some time in Virginia, after which she will be seen on the campus as a counsel in the Methodist Youth Caravan which will train here. She will also work with youth programs in seven local churches for one week each.

Joseph D. Babcock, of the physics department, will continue graduate study at Bucknell University.

Donald G. Remley, of the mathematics and physics department, will continue graduate work at Columbia University.

J. Milnor Dorey, of the English department, and Hazel B. Dorey, instructor in piano, will jointly conduct a tour to Europe this summer during July and August for Thomas Cook and Son. They will tour England, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, and France. Mr. Dorey lecturing on the history, art, and literature of the countries visited, and Mrs. Dorey on the composers and types of music represented.

James W. Sterling, instructor in English, will teach on the campus this summer during the second half. Prior to that he will visit relatives in Texas.

Frances E. Knights, instructor in mathematics, will continue work for her Doctor's degree at Pennsylvania State College.

Donald J. Felix, Director of Physical Education, will pursue work at Bucknell University for his Master's degree, and will also work in the local schools' recreation department. Don has been a busy man during the year, not only as athletic director, but in charge of all the college dances, and coach of the intramural football league, basket ball league, and swimming events. He has recently been appointed to the new post of Dean of Men.

Dr. Eric V. Sandin, head of the English department, will have charge of the work in English during the summer session of the college.

The Business Staff

We wish that every member of the business staff might take time off this summer for a real vacation, but with the summer school, enrolements for next year, and all the business attendant on the expanding needs of the college, we fear they will be found hard at work. A two-weeks leave will, however, give them a break. Hats off to Bob Wharton, business manager; Bessie L. White, recorder; Clara Fritsche and her assistant, Joan Evenden in the bookkeeping department; Sherman Stanford, director of admissions, Dorothy Streeter, bookstore manager. We must include all members of the secretarial staff who are hard working and genial: Nellie Gorgas, secretary to Dr. Long; Katherine Woolever, assistant and local publicity director; Rose Mary Ford, secretary to Mr. Stanford, and Nancy Ruhl, secretary to Dean Skeath.

Virginia L. Smith, of the English department, and her husband, Robert F. Smith, basket ball coach, will attend Pennsylvania State College pursuing graduate work for the Master's degree, and Doctor's degree respectively.

Mary Landon Russell, piano instructor, will do graduate work at the Eastman Conservatory of Music.

Joseph N. Whitten, librarian, will continue work for his Doctor's degree at New York University, following with a visit in Mississippi. His assistant, Lulu Lulu Brunstetter, will sojourn in Washington, D.C.

John A. Streeter, instructor in economics, with his wife, will spend some time in Canada.

The Powers That Be

As usual, Dr. Long will be on the job all summer with an occasional release for a much-needed rest. Dean J. Milton Skeath will be in the same boat, if not more so. He hopes to take a few auto trips here and there. Florence Dewey, Dean of Women, plans to be in Canada with her folks.

Robert H. Ewing, history instructor, will teach on the campus.

Dr. Helen B. Weidman, history instructor, will be teaching at the college.

Walter G. McIver, director of music, will be on the campus teaching a course in music appreciation and filling other musical engagements.

Phil G. Gillette, of the Spanish department, will be teaching on the campus.

George L. Baer, assistant football coach, will pursue graduate work at Bucknell University.

Charlotte C. Finkenthal, German instructor, will attend Columbia University to pursue graduate work.

George S. Goodell, of the sociology department, will be teaching on the campus.

The following members of the faculty have no special plans beyond vacation and individual study:

Carl S. Bauer, engineering drawing; Helen M. Golder, art; Louise Frownfelter, speech; James A. Heether, chemistry; Armand J. L. VanBaelen, mathematics; John A. Campbell, chemistry.

Rev. Clair J. Switzer and family will motor to California to visit relatives.

Roger E. Cogswell, of the French department, will take graduate work at Pennsylvania State College.

John P. Graham, English, will teach at the college.

State Council of Education Grants Lycoming College Authority to Give Degrees

Approval has finally been given by the State Council of Education to allow the Williamsport Dickinson Junior College to be known as Lycoming College, to conduct four years of accredited collegiate work, and to grant the corresponding degrees. This action was validated by the Lycoming County Court.

With the way now cleared, the college is proceeding with its curricular enrichments, a building program, strengthening of the faculty, and increased impetus to draw new students from wider areas. The endowment fund of $500,000, begun some time ago, is receiving the finishing touches by the committee set up at the college to take care of later pledges, and receiving new ones. The response evidences the deep interest in the college and its future prospects by the donors.

Summer Religious Conference

During the summer there will be three religious conferences. The Youth Caravan will be held from June 21 to July 1, which will include the Carrie Barge House Party of the Women's Social Christian Service. The officers of these groups are Mrs. Dunning Idle, Sr., of Gettysburg, president; Mrs. William R. Malone, of New Cumberland, registrar; Mrs. Frank W. Ake, of Avis, manager of activities. This conference will last from July 4 to July 11. From July 11 to July 17, the Pastor's School will be held, which Rev. L. Elbert Wilson will conduct.
